Million Bushels Grain Disappear in Midwest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department investigators have found shortages of about a million bushels in government-owned grain—mostly corn and soybeans—stored in commercial warehouses in the Midwest. The value of the vanished grain was about $1.1 million.

The shortages are the aggregate of 11 individual instances previously reported. In eight of the cases, the government has asked federal courts to appoint receivers for the warehouses and to issue restraining orders against further handling of grain by the warehouses.

More than two billion bushels of government-owned surplus grains are stored in commercial warehouses and in government bins.

Officials said that additional shortages may be found in the weeks ahead as declining grain supplies are pulling much grain out of storage for commercial use. The declining supplies reflect cutbacks in production and increases in use, both at home and abroad.

Officials expressed confidence that no financial losses would result for the government. Many small losses occur from time to time, reflecting shrinkage in the weight of the grain during storage as well as handling losses. Both of these are normal and do not represent wrongdoing on the part of the warehouse operator.

The eight cases on which court action has been taken included: Blissfield, Mich.—Basil & Sons, Inc., shortage of about 273,000 bushels of corn.

Monroe, Mich.—Basil Haddix & Sons Inc., shortage of about 223,000 bushels of corn.

Durand, Mich.—Basil Haddix &

sons Inc., doing business as M & S Elevator, shortage of 26,000 bushels of corn.

Woodbury, Mich.—Woodbury Grain Co., shortage of 97,745 bushels of corn.

Detroit, Mich.—Michigan Grain Co., shortage of about 14,000 bushels of corn.

Kenton, Ohio—Kenton Grain & Machinery Co., Inc., shortage of about 114,000 bushels of corn.

Forest, Ohio—Forest Grain & Supply Co., shortage of about 115,000 bushels of corn.

Edison, Ohio—Morrow Supply Co., Inc., shortage of about 4,888 bushels of corn and 17,866 bushels of soybeans.

Vall, Iowa—Allen T. North Grain Co., shortage of about 96,000 bushels of corn.

Suspended by the department ineligible for storage of government grain are the Iowa City Feed & Grain Service, Inc., Iowa City; and the Farmers Elevator Co., Mason City, Iowa.

The 11th case is that of Adolph Welsh, doing business as Pawnee Elevator, Pawnee, Ill. Shortages of corn and soybeans were found but the operator has made restitution. The department is making a further investigation.

$80.5 Million Given Nod for Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has rejected President Kennedy's request for $568 million to launch a fallout shelter program but approved another $80.5 million for other civil defense projects.

The House upheld its Appropriations Committee which had recommended removing Kennedy's $568,755,000 shelter program request from the $11.5-billion omnibus bill financing 26 federal agencies.

Kennedy had asked the funds to begin a program of shelter construction, research and development under the Department of Defense. He also had asked $4,455,000 for stockpiling of medical supplies by the Public Health Service, but the House voted only $5.5 million.

The House approved $10 million for Civil Defense research and study and $65 million to continue the present Civil Defense program.

In all, the House trimmed about a billion dollars from various administration requests. But it still wound up voting $2 billion more than the same agencies got in the last fiscal year. Most of the increase—$1,972,365,000—is for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States strongly indicated today that its high altitude nuclear tests in the Pacific will be continued.

An announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense reported substantial damage to the Johnston Island launching pad for the rockets that propel the nuclear test devices into the skies, as a result of the failure of a launching effort July 25.

It said several weeks will be needed to repair the launching site and prepare it for "the remaining high altitude tests in the Dominic series."

Climber Is Buried High on Mountain

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP)—A young Massachusetts mountain climber was to be buried today high on the jagged slopes of the snow-swept peak which claimed his life.

Stephen Smith, 21, of Holden, Mass., died of exposure going up Grand Teton Peak after his climbing party was caught in a snowstorm last Thursday. His grave will be about 1,200 feet from the summit of the 13,766-foot mountain.

The other nine members of the party, all members of the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston, Mass., were recovering from their ordeal.

Cincy Area Bank Robbed by Thug

CINCINNATI (AP)—A man, who demanded "big bills", held up a teller at the Central Trust Co. branch bank in suburban Mariemont today and got away with approximately $4,800.

Police said they were told the man laid a gun down on the counter and ordered the teller to hand over the money.

Officers said bank employees said the robber appeared to be about 30 to 40 years old and they believed he made his getaway in a dark blue station wagon.

County Fair Off To Good Start; Attendance Rises

Pickaway County's Fair, 1962 edition, was off and running with a fast start last night.

A larger than usual opening night crowd was on hand last night, according to Fair Secretary William Cook. Indications at noon today were that a record number of spectators might enliven things for the second day of the show.

Moonshiner Is Sentimental

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Casey Jones, 62, is a man whose delicate nature and sentiment are rare in his line of work.

Jones was arrested early today by federal agents as officers said he tended a moonshine still near Gloucester in the hills of northern Athens County.

Agents reported Jones surrendered meekly and thanked the officers for not drawing their guns. He explained, they said, that guns made him nervous.

As the agents prepared to destroy the still, Jones made one last request. He asked George Lovell, Athens Messenger photographer to take pictures of the still.

Jones said he was too old to re-new operations and wanted pictures to remind him of his now defunct business.

Dreaded Drug Use In Ohio Is Halted

Berger Building Program Sought

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners yesterday was presented with a resolution seeking a 1½-mill tax levy for a proposed building program at Berger Hospital.

The resolution was drawn and presented by the Berger Hospital Board of Commissioners. It requested the County Commission to take necessary steps in presenting the issue to the electors of Pickaway County at the Nov. 6 general election.

The resolution was received by the Commissioners, but no action was taken yesterday. The County solons have until Sept. 15 to decide whether or not the issue will go on the ballot.

Sought by the resolution is a 1½ mill levy, for a period of five years, in excess of the 10-mill limitation. The measure noted that money derived would be used for the permanent improvement of Berger Hospital, and the reconstruction, enlargement and extensions necessary as provided by the Revised Code of Ohio.

THE resolution also pointed out that the requested action would be in line with the Participating Contract of the City of Circleville and the Board of County Commissioners which now exists between the two parties.

Providing the levy is placed on the ballot and passed by the voters in November, it would make available approximately $180,000 per year for a five-year period toward the proposed building program.

Poll Predicts Rhodes To Be Easy Winner

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Information Committee (OIC), a nonpartisan political action group, said today a statewide poll favored Republican State Auditor James A. Rhodes for governor, Democrat U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche for reelection and Republican Rep. Robert Taft Jr. for congressman at large.

OIC President Roger H. Fenger, publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer, said 3,086 of the 5,000 civic leaders throughout the state marked poll ballots.

Fenger stressed that the polls are conducted regularly by his organization mainly to determine small business sentiment. Included in the poll were political candidates of both parties, newspapers, radio and TV stations, trade associations and service groups.

In the poll for governor, Rhodes received 2,687 to 382 for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Democrat incumbent, out of 3,069 votes cast.

Lausche received 1,927 to 1,116 for John Marshall Briley of Toledo, GOP senatorial nominee, out of 3,043 votes.

Taft polled 2,933 to 132 for Richard D. Kennedy, Cleveland Democrat, out of 3,065 votes in the congressional event.

Celebrezze Is Sworn In

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anthony J. Celebrezze took the oath of office as secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department today in a colorful ceremony in the White House rose garden.

After the oath-taking was completed, he told newsmen "I'm going to work right this minute."

President Kennedy stood by the side of the man who quit as mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, to become the first replacement in Kennedy's Cabinet since the chief executive took office in January last year.

The President said that this was Celebrezze's most important assignment in a very busy lifetime, and that the words in his new title indicate the responsibilities and difficult job confronting him.

"I think the administration will be enhanced by his vitality, sense of purpose and public commitment," Kennedy said.

gram. These figures are based on the county's approximate $120 million tax duplicate.

Commissioner Clyde Michel today said the Board will bring the request under study during the next few days. He said he was unable to say when definite action will be taken.

The Hospital Board voted on the levy request at a recent meeting. The motion carried on a 6-1 count.

Berger Listed On State Study

Circleville Facility High on Need Survey

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A study by the Division of Hospital Facilities of the Ohio Department of Health shows the Logan and Newark communities head the list of areas in Ohio where need is greatest for more hospital beds.

Other communities listed as places where the need is high are Celina, Portsmouth, Circleville, Greenville, Wadsworth, Georgetown, Athens, Wilmington and Martins Ferry.

Of the state's large urban areas, Akron, Toledo and Cincinnati are on the list of greatest need.

The report is being included in the 1962-63 revision of the Ohio state plan for hospital and medical facilities construction. Health authorities said copies of the complete state plan will be available for examination after Aug. 13 at the health department offices and also from the Cleveland Hospital Council, Greater Cincinnati Hospital Council, Dayton Metropolitan Federation and Hospital Planning Association of Greater Toledo.

The State Hospital Advisory Council will review the plan Sept. 4, holding a public hearing at 2:30 p.m. that date in the state office building.

After the hearing, the plan will be submitted to the United States Public Health Service for approval by the surgeon general. The plan is used as a basis for granting federal Hill-Burton funds for assistance in construction of governmental and non-profit health facilities, including hospitals, nursing homes, psychiatric units of general hospitals and other facilities.

Last year, Ohio's share of these funds was $8,698,000.

8 Men Get Prison Terms In Vice Case

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—U.S. District Judge Mac Swinford today sentenced eight men to five years in prison each on their convictions of conspiracy to evade $387,555 in gambling excise taxes on numbers racket operations in Newport.

He also fined each $10,000. Actually, multiple sentences of five years were given seven of the defendants but Judge Swinford said the terms would run concurrently.

The eight are Frank (Screw) Andrews, Peter Andrews, Frank Andriola, Russell Malone, Walter Owens, Gus Postell, Louis Tye and Willard Whitley.

Frank Andrews was convicted on only the conspiracy count. The jury, which returned its verdict Saturday, was unable to reach a verdict on him on other counts in the 35-count indictment.

Judge Swinford said a new trial date on those counts would be set Sept. 24.

Andrews often has been described as the head of the numbers racket in Newport.

110 Doctors Given Supply

Deformed Babies Claimed Result

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration moved in Ohio today to make sure no more of the dreaded drug, thalidomide, is used by the state's doctors.

The drug, manufactured by a Cincinnati firm, William S. Merrill Co., has been blamed for causing deformed babies. It never has been granted a license for official use in the U.S., but has been used in clinical tests. More than 100 Ohio doctors have received supplies of the tranquilizer.

"We are checking various doctors who have received the drug to make sure it is no longer being used," Theodore C. Maraviglia, regional FDA administrator, said in Cincinnati.

He declined to name any of the 110 doctors reported to have received samples of the drug.

The department said the drug distributed by an American manufacturer as tranquilizers has the trade name Kevadon. The pill is described as blue, slightly larger than an aspirin tablet. On one side it bears the initial "M," inside a double circle; on the other side it is scored across the middle for breaking in half.

The drug is contained in pills under foreign trade names: Coganter, Distaval, Softenon, Talimol, Algosediv, Peracon Expectors, Gripex, Polygrip, Valgis, Tensival, Belgraine and Asmaval.

The FDA said more Ohio doctors received supplies of the drug than in any other state except Pennsylvania.

New York City has reported what may be this nation's first infant death involving the drug. Thousands of deformed babies have been reported in Europe where the drug has been on sale.

In Canada, the number of babies born with deformed arms and legs rose to 43. An Ontario mother reported her twin babies both were born with withered limbs.

Meanwhile, an Arizona television star, already the mother of four normal children, has been turned down by a judge in her attempt to get a legal abortion because she fears her fifth child may be born deformed as a result of the drug.

As these developments were recorded Monday, the American Medical Association launched comprehensive research to try to determine what the sedative-acting drug does to unborn infants.

A congressional hearing was set for Wednesday to look into what one senator called indications of "serious communication weaknesses" involving information on the drug's suspected crippling power.

The announcement came on the heels of a report by the Food and Drug Administration that thalidomide pills had been distributed to doctors in 39 states and the District of Columbia. They were not sold commercially.

In one of the states, the New York City Health Department said a 37-year-old Queens woman, who reportedly took 90 thalidomide pills before and during pregnancy, gave birth July 21 to a deformed

Ohio Leaders Seek Federal Contracts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-five Ohio business, education and research leaders were to meet in Washington today to discuss the state's participation in governmental contracts.

The meeting was called by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio. Herschel C. Atkinson, executive vice president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, said prior to his departure that Ohio has the scientific laboratory and research facilities and available scientists, technicians and specialists for far more participation in governmental research, development, testing and evaluation.

Atkinson said he would take to the meeting a list of 438 industrial research laboratories in 71 Ohio cities.

A QUIET and unannounced visitor in Circleville Sunday evening was Ted Lewis.

Circleville's contribution to the entertainment world stopped by to pay respect to the Ben Gordon family. He was on his way to Cincinnati where he opens a two-week engagement this week.

Ted made a special effort to visit the Gordons following the death of Ben's father here several days ago. Yesterday the Gordons received a $100 check from Mrs. Lewis in New York—the money to be donated to Berger Hospital in memory of the elder Gordon.

Maestro Ted supposedly opens at the Surf Club in Cincinnati. . . . Then he is due for a week at Dayton. . . . Then comes a one-week appearance at the Maramor in Columbus beginning Aug. 17.

The Gordons remarked that Ted looks real good following a recent illness which forced confinement for several weeks. They said the stop off here was made enroute from Indianapolis to Cincinnati.

County Fair Off To Good Start; Attendance Rises

Pickaway County's Fair, 1962 edition, was off and running with a fast start last night.

A larger than usual opening night crowd was on hand last night, according to Fair Secretary William Cook. Indications at noon today were that a record number of spectators might enliven things for the second day of the show.

Opening ceremonies and a Flag

Raising by local Boy Scouts highlighted yesterday's beginning. This was followed by a thrilling exhibition of parachute jumping, a Pony Pull and lots of Junior Fair livestock judging. Also getting under way was the annual Horseshoe Pitching contest which will continue each night of the Fair.

Today's activities centered on judging of all sorts and a Tractor Pull which started at 10 a. m. Also on the agenda were Flower Show judging at 12:30 and Harness Racing at 4.

TONIGHT'S highlight will be the combined Talent and King and Queen contests in front of the Grandstand. This traditional event of the Fair will start at 8 p. m.

Wednesday will be another busy day, with more judging and various events slated for the morning and afternoon. An All-Girl Variety Thrill show will be featured in the evening.

Today's weather appeared perfect for fair time. An extended forecast indicated the weatherman's wholehearted cooperation for the rest of the week.

Buddhist Priest's Advice Fails; He Is Arrested

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Eight men consulted a Buddhist priest, Yang Chi-teh, Monday on the best way to escape the current parashola epidemic in Formosa.

The priest suggested the walk on burning coals. He assured them they would be protected by Pao Chen, a deity supposedly endowed with supernatural power against evil.

The eight men jumped onto a bed of fire and jumped out, all badly burned.

The priest was arrested.

Dreaded Drug Use In Ohio Is Halted

Berger Building Program Sought

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners yesterday was presented with a resolution seeking a 1½-mill tax levy for a proposed building program at Berger Hospital.

The resolution was drawn and presented by the Berger Hospital Board of Commissioners. It requested the County Commission to take necessary steps in presenting the issue to the voters of Pickaway County at the Nov. 6 general election.

The resolution was received by the Commissioners, but no action was taken yesterday. The county solons have until Sept. 15 to decide whether or not the issue will go on the ballot.

Sought by the resolution is a 1½ mill levy, for a period of five years, in excess of the 10-mill limitation. The measure noted that money derived would be used for the permanent improvement of Berger Hospital, and the reconstruction, enlargement and extensions necessary as provided by the Revised Code of Ohio.

THE resolution also pointed out that the requested action would be in line with the Participating Contract of the City of Circleville and the Board of County Commissioners which now exists between the two parties.

Providing the levy is placed on the ballot and passed by the voters in November, it would make available approximately $180,000 per year for a five-year period toward the proposed building program.

Poll Predicts Rhodes To Be Easy Winner

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Information Committee (OIC), a nonpartisan political action group, said today a statewide poll favored Republican State Auditor James A. Rhodes for governor, Democrat U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche for reelection and Republican Rep. Robert Taft Jr. for congressman at large.

OIC President Roger H. Ferger, publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer, said 3,086 of the 5,000 civic leaders throughout the state marked poll ballots.

Ferger stressed that the polls are conducted regularly by his organization mainly to determine small business sentiment included in the poll were political candidates of both parties, newspapers, radio and TV stations, trade associations and service groups.

In the poll for governor, Rhodes received 2,687 to 382 for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Democrat incumbent, out of 3,069 votes cast. Lausche received 1,927 to 1,116 for John Marshall Briley of Toledo, GOP senatorial nominee, out of 3,043 votes.

Taft polled 2,933 to 132 for Richard D. Kennedy, Cleveland Democrat, out of 3,065 votes in the congressional event.

Celebrezze Is Sworn In

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anthony J. Celebrezze took the oath of office as secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department today in a colorful ceremony in the White House rose garden.

After the oath-taking was completed, he told newsmen "I'm going to work right this minute."

President Kennedy stood by the side of the man who quit as mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, to become the first replacement in Kennedy's Cabinet since the chief executive took office in January last year.

The President said that this was Celebrezze's most important assignment in a very busy lifetime, and that the words in his new title indicate the responsibilities and difficult job confronting him.

"I think the administration will be enhanced by his vitality, sense of purpose and public commitment," Kennedy said.

110 Doctors Given Supply Deformed Babies Claimed Result

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration moved in Ohio today to make sure no more of the dreaded drug, thalidomide, is used by the state's doctors.

The drug, manufactured by a Cincinnati firm, William S. Merrill Co., has been blamed for causing deformed babies. It never has been granted a license for official use in the U.S., but has been used in clinical tests. More than 100 Ohio doctors have received supplies of the tranquilizer.

"We are checking various doctors who have received the drug to make sure it is no longer being used," Theodore C. Maravaglia, regional FDA administrator, said in Cincinnati.

He declined to name any of the 110 doctors reported to have received samples of the drug.

The department said the drug distributed by an American manufacturer as tranquilizers has the trade name Kevadon. The pill is described as blue, slightly larger than an aspirin tablet. On one side it bears the initial "M," inside a double circle; on the other side it is scored across the middle for breaking in half.

The drug is contained in pills under foreign trade names: Contergan, Distaval, Softenon, Talimol, Algosediv, Peracorn Expectors, Grippex, Polygripian, Valgis, Tensival, Belgirane and Asmayat.

The FDA said more Ohio doctors received supplies of the drug than in any other state except Pennsylvania.

New York City has reported what may be this nation's first infant death involving the drug. Thousands of deformed babies have been reported in Europe where the drug has been on sale.

In Canada, the number of babies born with deformed arms and legs rose to 43. An Ontario mother reported her twin babies both were born with withered limbs.

Meanwhile, an Arizona television star, already the mother of four normal children, has been turned down by a judge in her attempt to get a legal abortion because she fears her fifth child may be born deformed as a result of the drug.

As these developments were recorded Monday, the American Medical Association launched comprehensive research to try to determine what the sedative-acting drug does to unborn infants.

A congressional hearing was set for Wednesday to look into what one senator called indications of "serious communication weaknesses" involving information on the drug's suspected crippling power.

The announcement came on the heels of a report by the Food and Drug Administration that thalidomide pills had been distributed to doctors in 39 states and the District of Columbia. They were not sold commercially.

In one of the states, the New York City Health Department said a 37-year-old Queens woman, who reportedly took 90 thalidomide pills before and during pregnancy, gave birth July 21 to a deformed

Ohio Leaders Seek Federal Contracts

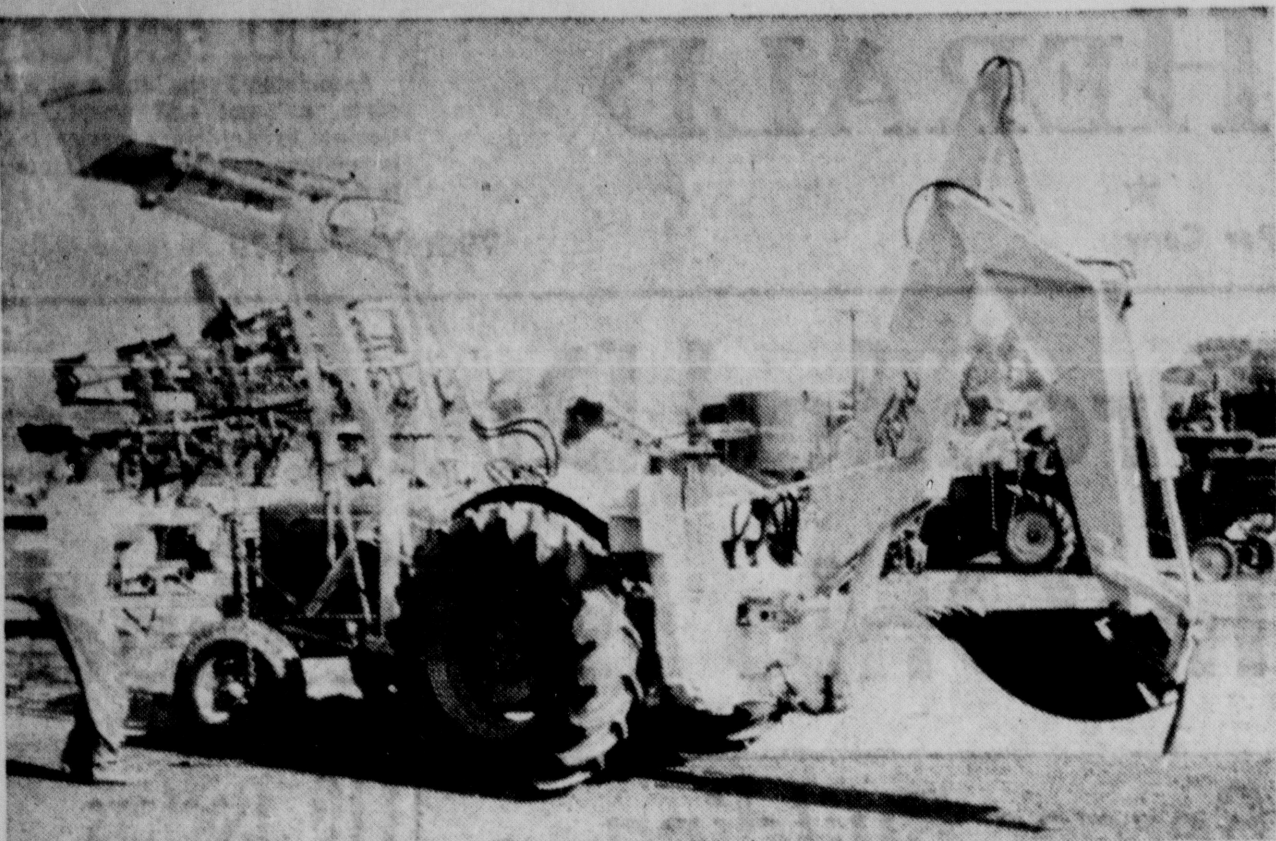

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-five Ohio business, education and research leaders were to meet in Washington today to discuss the state's participation in governmental contracts.

The meeting was called by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio. Herschel C. Atkinson, executive vice president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, said prior to his departure that Ohio has the scientific laboratory and research facilities and available scientists, technicians and specialists for far more participation in governmental research, development, testing and evaluation.

Atkinson said he would take to the meeting a list of 438 industrial research laboratories in 71 Ohio cities.

storing parachuter's formula for jumping. He said that for a really spectacular jump you should go up in the plane until all you can see are tiny buildings on the landscape, and then you jump, holding a bag of flour with a hole cut in the corner. This leaves a white smoke like trail so the spectators can chart your course.

Then you just float down watching the landscape. When you can see a crowd you reach for the rip cord — but don't pull it yet. Pretty soon you can distinguish people in the crowd. When you get close enough to spot individuals, and call them by name, pull the ripcord.

However, we don't recommend this procedure. One day the barnstormer apparently tried to carry on a conversation with somebody in the crowd—at least his parachute didn't open soon enough for some reason. He never jumped again.

CANNIBALS?? The Kitchen Kaperettes 4-H Club has constructed a beautiful South Seas exhibit in the coliseum at the fairgrounds. The set is complete with palm trees and tropical fruit. A huge copper kettle has several island delicacies in it, including the head of a Polynesian girl.

BICYCLES are a hazard at the fairgrounds... at least one photographer thinks so. Yesterday afternoon a youth going through the crowd on his bike crashed into a photographer upsetting both of them. No injuries resulted.

MANY fair-goers are making favorable comments on the surface-treated midway at the fairgrounds. The job was completed prior to fair opening to keep the dust in the area to a minimum.

ONE OF the highlight exhibits at the fair again this year is the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department exhibit under the grandstand... The display has a photo account of most injury accidents, fires and vandalism in the county during the year.

U.S. To OK Action Against Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is reported ready to support strong political and economic measures against secessionist Katanga Province in an effort to unify the crisis-ridden Congo under a modified federal government.

President Kennedy is understood to have made the basic decision. Precise measures are still being worked out by officials here and in consultation with allied governments and U.N. authorities.

U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion came here for consultation about 10 days ago and is expected to return to Leopoldville in a day or so. The purpose of Gullion's return to Washington was to consult on pressures which might be used to bring Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga Province, into line with the central government.

Two things are at stake, officials said. First and most important is that the Kennedy administration sees the problem is to make revenues from Katanga's rich mineral exports available to the central government. The second objective is to establish firmly the overriding authority of the Leopoldville regime which is headed by Premier Cyrille Adoula.

U.S. officials say privately that if Adoula continues much longer without revenues from Katanga's wealth—now fully controlled by Tshombe—his regime faces critical financial troubles. On the political side, officials said, his inability to assert authority over Katanga is making him increasingly vulnerable to efforts to undermine his administration. Informants said today that a number of legal steps may be taken to assert the central government's authority over Katanga Province but that real pressure will have to be applied through economic measures. Consideration has been given to various means of cutting down on the income available to Tshombe, one possible device being to organize a voluntary boycott among nations that buy Katangese copper and other mineral products.

Adoula launched a new move Sunday to bring Tshombe into line. He proposed a new constitution that would allow Katanga a high degree of self-rule if it would agree to join the modified federal system. Under this proposal each province would handle its local administration, economy and law enforcement while the central government would be responsible for foreign affairs, national defense, customs, currency, foreign trade and the like.

The Adoula proposal was endorsed by the State Department late Monday.

Officials said, however, that considerably more action is needed than simply an offer of concessions if Tshombe is to be brought to the point of accepting any curtailment of the authority which he now enjoys.

British Freighter Sinks near Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A British freighter lay a crippled hulk in the Detroit River after the ship and a barge collided Monday night.

The crash tore a great hole in the port (left) side of the 4,933 ton Montrose, and the freighter rolled onto that side as rescue boats removed 41 members of the crew without injury.

The 442-foot Montrose's bow was virtually submerged today. Her screw and rudder were high above the water.

She was held by her two anchors directly under the Ambassador Bridge, which links Detroit and Windsor, Ont.

Stock Market Pushes Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market today pushed its rally into the fourth straight session with trading active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.00 at 219.80 with industrials up 1.80, rails up .20, and utilities up .50. Gains of key stocks went from fractions to 2 points or more.

First-hour volume topped a million shares. While business news continued mixed, Wall Street technicians were heartened by the ability of the Dow Jones industrial average to exceed Monday the recovery peak of July 12.

Trading moderated after the first hour and the list absorbed some profit taking. Then prices grew firmer again.

baby which lived only about 40 minutes.

In Phoenix, Ariz. Superior Court Judge Yale McFate dismissed a suit by television personality Sherri Finkbine who sought to legalize the abortion she had planned.

"Miss Sherri," star of a Phoenix kiddie show, took thalidomide, which has been blamed for malformation of thousands of newborn infants, mostly in Europe. Mrs. Finkbine and her husband said they didn't want to risk such a birth.

The couple said today they would go elsewhere—to "a more favorable legal climate"—to seek an abortion.

All 50 states prohibit abortions. Arizona, and some others, allow exceptions only if the life of the mother is endangered.

The judge noted that Arizona law concerning abortion was not challenged in Mrs. Finkbine's suit. He said the plaintiff sought only to have the court determine that a "miscarriage" was necessary to save Mrs. Finkbine's life.

McFate added that the suit contained no controversy and therefore his court had no jurisdiction in the matter.

In New York, the city's acting health commissioner said the woman whose deformed baby died had taken thalidomide on the advice of a Park Avenue psychiatrist who had ordered the drug from a pharmacy in Germany.

In Chicago, the American Medical Association said it assigned its council on drugs to do the research on thalidomide. The drug has been under clinical evaluation since 1956, the AMA said, but it hopes the council's study will provide information on congenital malformations and that "appropriate measures will be developed to safeguard our population."

Sen. Herbert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., whose Senate Government Operations subcommittee will open hearings on thalidomide, made the comment on "serious communication weaknesses" involving the drug.

Humphrey, the subcommittee's chairman, said hearing witnesses will include Dr. Frances Kelsey. She is the Food and Drug Administration physician who blocked commercial distribution of thalidomide in this country after being alerted to its potential danger by what the senator called her "chance reading" of a British Medical Journal article.

storming parachuter's formula for jumping. He said that for a really spectacular jump you should go up in the plane until all you can see are tiny buildings on the landscape, and then you jump, holding a bag of flour with a hole cut in the corner. This leaves a white smoke like trail so the spectators can chart your course.

Then you just float down watching the landscape. When you can see a crowd you reach for the ripcord — but don't pull it yet. Pretty soon you can distinguish people in the crowd. When you get close enough to spot individuals, and call them by name, pull the ripcord.

However, we don't recommend this procedure. One day the barnstormer apparently tried to carry on a conversation with somebody in the crowd—at least his parachute didn't open soon enough for some reason. He never jumped again.

CANNIBALS?? The Kitchen Kaperettes 4-H Club has constructed a beautiful South Seas exhibit in the coliseum at the fairgrounds. The set is complete with palm trees and tropical fruit. A huge copper kettle has several island delicacies in it, including the head of a Polynesian girl.

BICYCLES are a hazard at the fairgrounds... at least one photographer thinks so. Yesterday afternoon a youth going through the crowd on his bike crashed into a photographer upsetting both of them. No injuries resulted.

MANY fair-goers are making favorable comments on the surface-treated midway at the fairgrounds. The job was completed prior to fair opening to keep the dust in the area to a minimum.

ONE OF the highlight exhibits at the fair again this year is the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department exhibit under the grandstand... The display has a photo account of most injury accidents, fires and vandalism in the county during the year.

U.S. To OK Action Against Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is reported ready to support strong political and economic measures against secessionist Katanga Province in an effort to unify the crisis-ridden Congo under a modified federal government.

President Kennedy is understood to have made the basic decision. Precise measures are still being worked out by officials here and in consultation with allied governments and U.N. authorities.

U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion came here for consultation about 10 days ago and is expected to return to Leopoldville in a day or so. The purpose of Gullion's return to Washington was to consult on pressures which might be used to bring Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga Province, into line with the central government.

Two things are at stake, officials said. First and most important is that the Kennedy administration sees the problem is to make revenues from Katanga's rich mineral exports available to the central government. The second objective is to establish firmly the overriding authority of the Leopoldville regime which is headed by Premier Cyrille Adoula.

U.S. officials say privately that if Adoula continues much longer without revenues from Katanga's wealth—now fully controlled by Tshombe—his regime faces critical financial troubles. On the political side, officials said, his inability to assert authority over Katanga is making him increasingly vulnerable to efforts to undermine his administration.

Informants said today that a number of legal steps may be taken to assert the central government's authority over Katanga Province but that real pressure will have to be applied through economic measures. Consideration has been given to various means of cutting down on the income available to Tshombe, one possible device being to organize a voluntary boycott among nations that buy Katangese copper and other mineral products.

Adoula launched a new move Sunday to bring Tshombe into line. He proposed a new constitution that would allow Katanga a high degree of self-rule if it would agree to join the modified federal system. Under this proposal each province would handle its local administration, economy and law enforcement while the central government would be responsible for foreign affairs, national defense, customs, currency, foreign trade and the like.

The Adoula proposal was endorsed by the State Department late Monday.

Officials said, however, that considerably more action is needed than simply an offer of concessions if Tshombe is to be brought to the point of accepting any curtailment of the authority which he now enjoys.

British Freighter Sinks near Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A British freighter lay a crippled hulk in the Detroit River after the ship and a barge collided Monday night.

The crash tore a great hole in the port (left) side of the 4,993 ton Montrose, and the freighter rolled onto that side as rescue boats removed 41 members of the crew without injury.

The 442-foot Montrose's bow 'eck was virtually submerged today. Her screw and rudder were high above the water.

She was held by her two anchors directly under the Ambassador Bridge, which links Detroit and Windsor, Ont.

Stock Market Pushes Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market today pushed its rally into the fourth straight session with trading active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.00 at 219.80 with industrials up 1.80, rails up .20, and utilities up .50.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to 2 points or more.

First-hour volume topped a million shares.

While business news continued mixed, Wall Street technicians were heartened by the ability of the Dow Jones industrial average to exceed Monday the recovery peak of July 12.

Trading moderated after the first hour and the list absorbed some profit taking. Then prices grew firmer again.

Three Get Emergency Treatment at Berger

A 3-year-old Circleville youth who suffered a scalp laceration headed the list of persons receiving emergency treatment at Berger Hospital yesterday. A total of three persons were treated and released.

Randy Harrison, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Harrison, 131 Griner Ave., was the child who received treatment for a scalp laceration.

George Fausnaugh, 46, Route 2, Ashville, fell from a ladder and sprained his right knee.

Kimi Merrill, 29, Route 3, cut her left hand on a knife.

Disinterested Editor Jolted to His Senses

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A neighborhood news tipster phoned the editor of a suburban weekly Monday to tell him about an unoccupied truck rolling downhill and smashing into a home.

"Not interested," said editor Richard Byrd. "This kind of thing happens in the newspaper business all the time."

"Well, I'm glad you're taking it so calmly," the tipster said. "It was your house."

baby which lived only about 40 minutes.

In Phoenix, Ariz. Superior Court Judge Yale McFate dismissed a suit by television personality Sherri Finkbine who sought to legalize the abortion she had planned.

"Miss Sherri," star of a Phoenix kiddie show, took thalidomide, which has been blamed for malformation of thousands of newborn infants, mostly in Europe. Mrs. Finkbine and her husband said they didn't want to risk such a birth.

The couple said today they would go elsewhere—to "a more favorable legal climate"—to seek an abortion.

All 50 states prohibit abortions. Arizona, and some others, allow exceptions only if the life of the mother is endangered.

The judge noted that Arizona law concerning abortion was not challenged in Mrs. Finkbine's suit. He said the plaintiff sought only to have the court determine that a "miscarriage" was necessary to save Mrs. Finkbine's life.

McFate added that the suit contained no controversy and therefore his court had no jurisdiction in the matter.

In New York, the city's acting health commissioner said the woman whose deformed baby died had taken thalidomide on the advice of a Park Avenue psychiatrist who had ordered the drug from a pharmacy in Germany.

In Chicago, the American Medical Association said it assigned its council on drugs to do the research on thalidomide. The drug has been under clinical evaluation since 1956, the AMA said, but it hopes the council's study will provide information on congenital malformations and that "appropriate measures will be developed to safeguard our population."

Sen. Herbert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., whose Senate Government Operations subcommittee will open hearings on thalidomide, made the comment on "serious communication weaknesses" involving the drug.

Humphrey, the subcommittee's chairman, said hearing witnesses will include Dr. Frances Kelsey. She is the Food and Drug Administration physician who blocked commercial distribution of thalidomide in this country after being alerted to its potential danger by what the senator called her "chance reading" of a British Medical Journal article.

'Glove' Silhouette Offered By Christian Dior Protege

PARIS (AP) — Designer Yves Saint-Laurent, who once put women in sacks, put them in tubes today and an audience of celebrities loved it.

The tube, however, is nothing for a man to get panicky about. Although the protege of the late Christian Dior called this the "glove" silhouette, it does not fit quite that closely. The slender elongated sheath does enhance the bust and subtly slides over the hips, hinting at the figure underneath. But it is the sparest of spare silhouettes this season. It appears to have guaranteed Saint-Laurent a second successful show since his army stint, a nervous breakdown, a legal battle with the Christian Dior House and a comeback last January.

Seeming to assure his success was Princess Lee Radziwill. Instead of wearing a Givenchy as is the custom of the princess and her sister, Jacqueline Kennedy while in France, the princess was in a two-piece wool suit made especially for her by Saint-Laurent and rumors were rampant that she would probably interest her trend-setting sister in his costumes.

Princess Radziwill sat with Viscountess Jacqueline de Ribes, one of the world's best-dressed women, and self-consciously fulfilled her role as a fashion reporter for McCall's, an American women's magazine.

As such, she had been turned away by her old couturier, Givenchy, to wait until the official press show a month from now. That, said her friends, is the reason for the non-Givenchy attire today.

If she does interest Mrs. Kennedy in the tube look of Saint-Laurent, neither the President of the United States nor the First

Freight Train Rolls With Engineer Dead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A freight train loaded with coke rumbled 19 blocks through the city Sunday with the engineer, Joseph Chaison, 52, of Riverton, N.J., dead at the controls.

He was the only person aboard the train traveling about 8 miles an hour.

Police said Chaison apparently died of a heart attack in the cab of the nine-car train. It was halted by yardmaster Joseph Bolton, who leaped aboard the engine.

Lady, nor all her faithful copyists will be sorry.

The look is fresh, extremely feminine, dramatic without being theatrical, often quite simple and always simply elegant.

His cavalier's suit has widened shoulders, a shapely bust and a supple but small back. A scarf panel animates a straight skirt. Over those supple tubular dresses, models wore three-quarter coats without rounded shoulders and slender hips.

Shaggy featherweight woolens, often horseblanket plaid, were cut into slim surcoats.

Most Corporations Show Increased Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's 17 million shareowners may be unhappy about what happened to stock prices in the first half of 1962, but most of their companies increased their earnings over the previous year and maintained the rate of dividend payments.

A number of the largest corporations reported striking gains in net income after taxes and some set records.

True, much of the fat came in the first three months of this year. In the April-May-June quarter profits often turned lean or sagged. In many instances when sales went up, net income followed at a slower pace or didn't follow at all.

But for the first six months of 1962, four out of five of 770 reporting companies increased their earnings. Their combined gain was 22.8 per cent over the first half of 1961 when the early months were in the bottom of the last recession. Only 148 of the 770 trailed 1961 figures. There were 32 reporting a net loss this year, against 55 a year ago.

Combined, the 770 had income after taxes of $5,636,561,000. In the first half of 1961, the same companies had total profits of $4,589,544,000.

Even so, many observers were disturbed by the showing. Mainly this was due to the slowdown in the second quarter from the first. To them it seemed clear that profits for the entire year would fall short of the goal set by the Kennedy Administration, some $56 billion before taxes, compared with $45 billion in 1961. Tight margins, even when sales were expanding, also clouded the earnings outlook for the second half of the year.

Relaxed depreciation rules that will permit companies to deduct more for wear and tear will also cut earnings by just that much. This change in bookkeeping will show up in the second half of this year.

All of these considerations doubtless will be among those weighed by the administration as it makes its decision as to whether to ask Congress to lower the tax

Townpeople Lug Water by Hand

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Edwarsville residents carried water in buckets, cans and pitchforks to their homes from distribution points Sunday before water service was restored to 3,250 homes.

The community of 12,000 persons was without running water from 7:30 p.m. Saturday until Sunday night, and then taps issued only trickles. The Water Department said normal pressure should be restored by noon today.

A break in the 12-inch main line was discovered Saturday morning and the pumps shut down. The city's 830,000-gallon reserve lasted until Saturday night.

The break apparently occurred while crews were cleaning the line with mechanical equipment.

rate on corporate incomes as a stimulant to business.

But six months earnings statements viewed by themselves are pretty reassuring.

Well ahead of a year ago was the motors group—General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American. All reported substantial gains.

The oils, out of favor with many stock traders well before the big price break, mostly moved higher in net earnings. Jersey Standard Oil, California Standard, Texaco, Socony-Mobil, Gulf, Atlantic Refining, Richfield, Tidewater and Continental were in the plus column. Going against this trend were Phillips Petroleum and Standard Oil (Ohio).

General Electric, Westinghouse, Zenith, Motorola, Carrier, Xerox, Polaroid, General Telephone & Electronics, Minneapolis-Honeywell and Thompson and Ramo Woodriddle all offered pleasing first half earnings gains.

In the chemicals, du Pont, Union Carbide, American Cyanamid, Hercules Powder and Rohm

The tobaccos split neatly. R. J. Reynolds and U.S. Tobacco made more this year than last. Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco made less.

Steels mostly did better for the first half, but dropped in the second quarter. Railroads and airlines also showed a mixed pattern, as did the drug companies.

Townpeople Lug Water by Hand

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Edwardsville residents carried water in buckets, cans and pitchers to their homes from distribution points Sunday before water service was restored to 3,250 homes.

The community of 12,000 persons was without running water from 7:30 p.m. Saturday until Sunday night, and then taps issued only trickles. The Water Department said normal pressure should be restored by noon today.

A break in the 12-inch main line was discovered Saturday morning and the pumps shut down. The city's 830,000-gallon reserve lasted until Saturday night.

The break apparently occurred while crews were cleaning the line with mechanical equipment.

rate on corporate incomes as a stimulant to business.

But six months earnings statements viewed by themselves are pretty reassuring.

Well ahead of a year ago was the motors group—General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American. All reported substantial gains.

The oils, out of favor with many stock traders well before the big price break, mostly moved higher in net earnings. Jersey Standard Oil, California Standard, Texaco, Socony-Mobil, Gulf, Atlantic Refining, Richfield, Tidewater and Continental were in the plus column. Going against this trend were Phillips Petroleum and Standard Oil (Ohio).

General Electric, Westinghouse, Zenith, Motorola, Carrier, Xerox, Polaroid, General Telephone & Electronics, Minneapolis-Honeywell and Thompson and Ramo Wooldridge all offered pleasing first half earnings gains.

In the chemicals, du Pont, Union Carbide, American Cyanamid, Hercules Powder and Rohm

The tobaccos split neatly. R. J. Reynolds and U.S. Tobacco made more this year than last. Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco made less.

Steels mostly did better for the first half, but dropped in the second quarter. Railroads and airlines also showed a mixed pattern, as did the drug companies.

Working Less, Enjoying It More

Peter Henle, a special assistant to the U. S. Commissioner of Labor Statistics, reports Americans are working less and enjoying it more. And that's a combination hard to beat.

What Mr. Henle means is the average work week is declining, and although the additional free time thus provided has lured some workers into part-time employment to supplement their normal incomes, most Americans are content to spend their leisure hours in enjoyable but non-productive activities.

This does not necessarily prove the United States has become a nation of loafers. The additional 155 paid leisure hours enjoyed by the 1960 worker over those of the 1940 employee are seldom spent in a reclining position. Judging by the phenomenal rise of many sports in the last two decades (boating and other water sports, bowling and golf are notable examples), the practitioner of leisure works harder than does his laboring contemporary.

More Americans are spending at least part of their free time traveling than ever. A glance at any tourist resort or recreational area will testify to the popularity of getting away from the daily routine. And who can help but notice the growing ranks of outdoor gardeners who make Burbank's efforts look like a weed patch?

This generation is fortunate to be reaping the rewards of an affluent society. Perhaps tucked away in all those additional leisure hours are a few minutes to reflect on ways of insuring that the generations which follow will not read a statement by a public official comparing their work-play ratio unfavorably with ours.

His Penalty Is a Crime

Robert Mann, 19-year-old California student, has been sentenced to serve 21 months in prison for trying to help an East Berliner leave for West Berlin. This is a crime!

In most of the world, it is no crime for a citizen to leave or for someone to help him. Most of us don't have to get permission to be tourists, and tourist agency employees are not arrested.

Young Mann will be freed by October of next year, perhaps little the worse for his experience. For the rest of the world his incarceration underlines one simple fact:

A communist state is a prison state. Living in a communist state is a punishment, however undeserved. Helping the prisoners escape is therefore a crime.

Miracle for Middle-Aged Man

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the daily miracles of our times is how a middle-aged man manages to get up and face life every morning — particularly on the mornings he has to go to work. Young people bounce out of bed because they are full of zest and hope. Old people get up early because they can't sleep late anyway—and perhaps because they realize they don't have too many sunrises left to enjoy.

But when the alarm clock wakens a middle-aged man from a bad dream — it's usually one in which he is being chased by a bill collector astride a dragon — he just lies there whimpering. He feels like a tired clog in the drainpipe of humanity.

After all, he has arisen 10,000 times to face duty. What can make this quivering heap of jellied self-pity rise and do it again?

Here's what happens in the kind of home many of us may know:

A spectral figure steps to the bedside of the middle-aged man and holds the noisy alarm clock silently before his shuddering face.

"Call 'em at the office, and tell 'em I've got a summer cold, drowsy, neuritis, buritis, inflammation of the esophagus, a pain in my chest—and a sore elbow," the man mutters feebly.

"You had all those things last month," says the wife.

"Do you want me to starve?" she asks dramatically.

He half-lifts himself to inquire, "How long would it take?"

The wife leaves and comes back holding up his trousers.

"If you don't get up this very minute," she says ominously, "you'll starve, too. After all, you've got 13 years, six months and four days to go to a pension. That isn't so long, is it?"

Grumbling, hacking, wheezing and groaning, he knuckles the gum from his eyes and reaches down blindly with his feet, searching for his slippers.

One hour, one shower, one egg, a piece of toast and two cups of coffee later—after a final stirring five-minute lecture to his wife on the need of more stringent household economy — the middle-aged man stumbles out the front door.

The wife, yawning, creeps with a sense of victory back to the bedroom for another hour of sleep. After all, she has done her main chore—she has once again managed to get a middle-aged husband up to face the ordeal of the day.

The human race has passed another landmark in its long struggle toward the light.

NEW YORK (AP) — Steelmen are hoping that their days of taking it on the chin are coming to an end. They took a one-two punch in the second quarter.

First, in April they were hit hard when they tried to raise prices and President Kennedy forced them to back away. Then their business fell off sharply, as their earnings reports of recent days make painfully clear.

Some hope that August will be the turning point. Most expect no marked pickup in orders and production until after Labor Day. And a few, smarting from their hurts, fear a general recession is in the making that might keep the customers away from their mills for several months more.

But weak as the second quarter earnings of most of the companies look, the industry still can boast a gain over 1961 for the half year.

With some of the big ones yet to be heard from—including U.S. Steel late this afternoon—reports of 19 steel firms show all but five doing better in the first six months of 1962 than in the like period of 1961.

Combined, the 19 earned $187,980,624 in the half year just ended, a gain of 47.4 per cent over $127,528,730 of the same 19 in the like period last year.

However, the last part of this period, the April-June quarter, saw a big drop. Eleven of the companies fell behind their earnings in the second quarter of 1961. Combined, they had $68,948,834 net income after taxes, against $89,482,593 the previous year, a decline of 22.9 per cent.

Steel's first quarter had worn a fever flush from unusual buying by customers worried about the chance of a strike or price rise. Also, the January-March quarter figures were compared with the quarter in 1961 when the last recession was at its deepest.

The second quarter of 1962 saw steel's customers assured there would be no strike and no price hike. So they used up the stocks they'd bought earlier and held off ordering.

This period may be coming to an end.

The U.S. Department of Commerce says:

"In contrast with the sharp cut-back in steel production, consumption of finished steel has been increasing steadily in recent months. In the past two months consumption has substantially exceeded production as using industries have drawn on stocks piled up earlier in the year as a strike hedge."

The department reports a drop of about one million tons in the stocks of finished steel during May and expects June figures will show another big reduction.

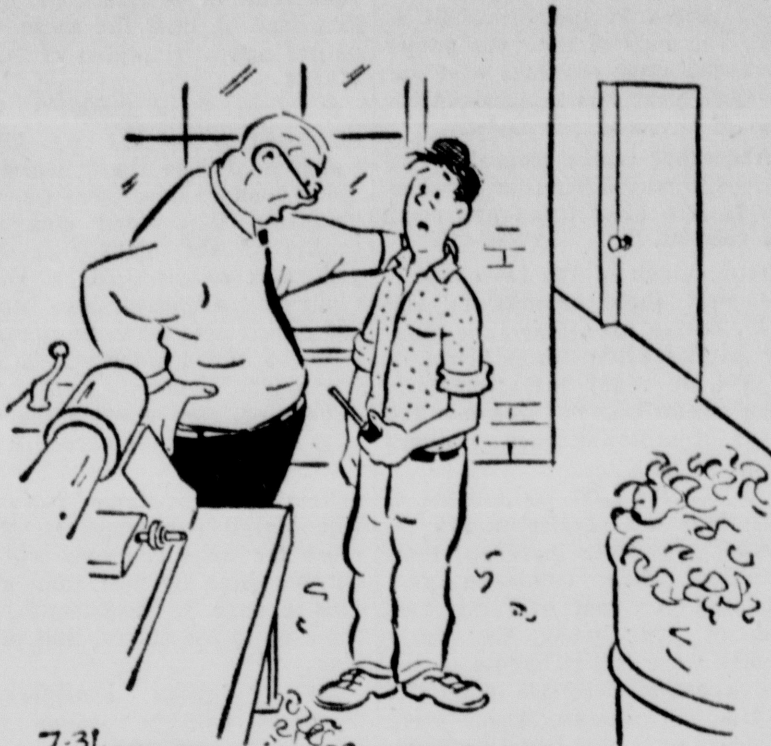

Along with cautious customers, the steel industry has been plagued by increasing competition from other materials, such as aluminum, copper and plastics. Steelmen are fighting back now, seeking new uses for their product.

Also imports of foreign steel have risen this year. Some 1.7 million tons were imported in the first five months, against a million a year ago. Lower production costs have helped the foreign mills to compete. But another reason for the increased flow is that in a number of steel producing countries capacity has now been built up enough to satisfy the home needs and leave a surplus for export.

The word "hurricane," or "huracan," means "big wind" in the language of the Carib Indians of the West Indies.

High Cost to Workers

One of the problems which faces every worker is the high cost of being a worker. Union dues, social security, fines, assessments bring the take home pay of the worker down.

I have here a letter from the National Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, District No. 1. This union is affiliated with the AFL-CIO Marine Trades Department. Its officers are J. M. Callahan, Chairman, R. L. Merrick, Secretary - Treasurer, B. Rowell, Executive Assistant, and Lee Pressman, General Counsel.

The letter follows: "Dear Sir and Brother:

At the 83rd National Convention held in May 1960 at Denver, Colorado, a resolution was adopted affecting members who hold Withdrawal Cards from their respective subordinate associations. As a result of this resolution any member who has a Withdrawal Card and does not reinstate his membership in the local or district, as the case may be, within sixty (60) days from the date of this notice, will be required to pay a $1,000.00 reinstatement fee."

All the rest of the letter does not matter. What, in essence, the letter says is that, if a member had to withdraw for any reason, it would cost him $1000 to be reinstated. Unless, a man pays $1000, he cannot work at his chosen trade.

This is one of the problems which faces the worker. His salary is reduced by the withholding tax, social security, union dues and union fees. This sentence is repetitive, but it should be printed on every pay envelope, so that a worker knows what he got in the first instance and what is left after all sorts of pieces are taken out of his wage.

As new means of production come into existence and as new materials are used, workers find it necessary to shift from one union to another. For instance, the flight engineers were on strike because, in the judgement of management, some of their work should be done by pilots. The pilots agree. If the flight engineer becomes a pilot, he must join the Pilots Union. Perhaps, he might belong to both unions to be sure. If an international regulation were adopted requiring everybody in the cockpit to be a pilot, would there have to be a world-wide strike so that the Flight Engineers Union should not become extinct because its function has ceased?

I notice that butchers have become meat-cutters. I do not know what is wrong with the word, butcher, but persons in that trade prefer to be called meat-cutters. Suppose a man in a super-market sells vegetables but the meat-cutter goes to the telephone or to the men's room or somewhere and the vegetable man cuts a piece of top-round for a fancy lady who refused to buy ready prepared and wrapped meat. Does that mean that they have to have a strike because the vegetable man must not be a meat-cutter even if his father and grandfather were butchers in the old days and he knows all about cutting meat? It does.

Or maybe he was once a meat-cutter and his doctor put him on a vegetable diet and he did not want to tease himself by touching meat all day long and then coming home to some field grass. So he left the meat-cutters and joined the vegetarians. So he changed his doctor and now can eat meat but no carbohydrates. Must he, then, pay something like $1000 to get back into the old union?

Perhaps the union has set up a bank where the marine engineer can borrow $1000 of his own money to pay the reinstatement assessment, or maybe he can mortgage his home or his car for the right to work.

We have not yet reached the depths of this sort of thing. The vast accumulations of the unions will, in time, be as great as the hoards of the life insurance companies which take the double indemnity out of a policy when one reaches 65 or somewhere about there — just when it is most important to have protection. It is all in the policy, but who reads a policy except the insurance salesman who knows all the answers.

The way it goes nowadays, if anybody needs money and his banker freezes at the prospect, a loan can be negotiated with certain labor unions whose non-taxable worth is hundreds of millions of dollars.

Highway Fatality Toll up 37 Pct.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's highway fatality total for last month jumped 37 per cent over statistics for June 1961, although 33 Ohio counties reported no traffic deaths at all.

A report issued by Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys showed 157 killed in June, compared to 115 in June of the previous year.

Traffic fatalities were up 29 per cent during the first six months of 1962 as compared to the same period last year. There were 861 highway deaths in the 1962 period, compared to 669 in 1961.

Nighttime traffic deaths were up 41 per cent during this year's January-June period with 481, as against 340 during the first six months of 1961. Pedestrian fatalities also showed an increase, 154 to 129.

High Cost to Workers

By George Sokolsky

One of the problems which faces every worker is the high cost of being a worker. Union dues, social security, fines, assessments bring the take home pay of the worker down.

I have here a letter from the National Marine Engineers, Beneficial Association, District No. 1. This union is affiliated with the AFL-CIO Marine Trades Department. Its officers are J. M. Calhoun, Chairman, R. L. Merrick, Secretary - Treasurer, B. Rowell, Executive Assistant, and Lee Pressman, General Counsel.

The letter follows:

"Dear Sir and Brother:

At the 83rd National Convention held in May 1960 at Denver, Colorado, a resolution was adopted affecting members who hold Withdrawal Cards from their respective subordinate associations. As a result of this resolution any member who has a Withdrawal Card and does not reinstate his membership in the local or district, as the case may be, within sixty (60) days from the date of this notice, will be required to pay a $1,000.00 reinstatement fee."

All the rest of the letter does not matter. What, in essence, the letter says is that, if a member had to withdraw for any reason, it would cost him $1000 to be reinstated. Unless, a man pays $1000, he cannot work at his chosen trade.

This is one of the problems which faces the worker. His salary is reduced by the withholding tax, social security, union dues and union fees. This sentence is repetitive, but it should be printed on every pay envelope, so that a worker knows what he got in the first instance and what is left after all sorts of pieces are taken out of his wage.

As new means of production come into existence and as new materials are used, workers find it necessary to shift from one union to another. For instance, the flight engineers were on strike because, in the judgement of management, some of their work should be done by pilots. The pilots agree. If the flight engineer becomes a pilot, he must join the Pilots Union. Perhaps, he might belong to both unions to be sure. If an international regulation were adopted requiring everybody in the cockpit to be a pilot, would there have to be a world-wide strike so that the Flight Engineers Union should not become extinct because its function has ceased?

I notice that butchers have become meat-cutters. I do not know what is wrong with the word, butcher, but persons in that trade prefer to be called meat-cutters. Suppose a man in a super-market sells vegetables but the meat-cutter goes to the telephone or to the men's room or somewhere and the vegetable man cuts a piece of top-round for a fancy lady who refused to buy ready prepared and wrapped meat. Does that mean that they have to have a strike because the vegetable man must not be a meat-cutter even if his father and grandfather were butchers in the old days and he knows all about cutting meat? It does.

Or maybe he was once a meat-cutter and his doctor put him on a vegetable diet and he did not want to tease himself by touching meat all day long and then coming home to some field grass. So he left the meat-cutters and joined the vegetarians. So he changed his doctor and now can eat meat but no carbohydrates. Must he, then, pay something like $1000 to get back into the old union?

Perhaps the union has set up a bank where the marine engineer can borrow $1000 of his own money to pay the reinstatement assessment, or maybe he can mortgage his home or his car for the right to work.

We have not yet reached the depths of this sort of thing. The vast accumulations of the unions will, in time, be as great as the hoards of the life insurance companies which take the double indemnity out of a policy when one reaches 65 or somewhere about there — just when it is most important to have protection. It is all in the policy, but who reads a policy except the insurance salesman who knows all the answers.

The way it goes nowadays, if anybody needs money and his banker freezes at the prospect, a loan can be negotiated with certain labor unions whose non-taxable worth is hundreds of millions of dollars.

Stored Corn To Start for Market Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record quantities of corn now stored on farms under government price supports soon will start moving into commercial channels to make room for this year's crop.

Price support loans on the 1961 crop—made at rates averaging $1.20 a bushel—fall due Tuesday. The quantity stored on farms totals about 785 million bushels, including nearly 200 million bushels held over from the 1960 crop. The total amount compares with about 600 million bushels a year earlier.

Under the support program, farmers have the privilege of paying off their loans and reclaiming full title to the grain or of delivering it to the government as payment for their loans. Inasmuch as most farmers can buy any corn they might need in the open market at less than the loan rate, few are expected to pay off loans and reclaim their grain.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicts that U.S. exports of cottonseed and year ending Sept. 30 will attain a new record high of 1.9 billion pounds.

Such a volume would be 75 per cent more than was exported during the previous year and 30 per cent above the previous peak of two years ago.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm income as a share of national income has dropped to nearly half that prevailing during the farm depression period of the 1930s.

An Agriculture Department income report showed that in 1961, farm income was 4.1 per cent of the national total. This compared with an average of 5.3 per cent during the 1950s, 7.4 in the 1940s, 7.37 in the 1930s and 7.5 per cent in 1932.

The highest percentage enjoyed by farmers since 1929 was 11 in 1934.

Louisiana Dems Like Kennedy Men

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Kennedy administration received a political boost in the Deep South when Louisiana Democrats renominated one of the President's most loyal backers and defeated a rash of strongly conservative candidates.

Kennedy backers were pleased most by the resounding triumph scored in the 2nd District by Rep. Hale Boggs, House Democratic whip.

Boggs was marked for political extinction by conservatives after he supported Kennedy's successful campaign last year to increase the size of the House Rules Committee. But he easily defeated three opponents, piling up 64 per cent of the vote in a district which includes uptown New Orleans and four outlying parishes.

Pony Pull Top Grandstand Attraction at Fair Opening

The pony pull, held in front of the grandstands on the race track, was the feature attraction at yesterday's opening events of the Pickaway County Fair.

An estimated crowd of nearly 400 persons, excluding contestants and their helpers and the usual crowd of railbirds, watched the tiny ponies and their drivers pit their skill against the sled loaded with cement blocks.

Hollis Jones of Zanesville won the 42-inch and under class. John Fenton of Dunkirk took the 42-46 inch class and Charles Moss of Custer won the 50 inch and under class.

Jones' team copped the small class when his tiny ponies pulled 2,100 pounds — more than twice their combined weight — the required distance of 14 feet. Clayton Kuhn of Gibsonville won second, Pat Wilson, New Concord, copped third and Emerson Brown placed fourth in the small class.

IN THE middle class two ponies pulled 2,700 pounds the required distance, but when the judges added an additional 400 pounds none of the ponies could go the distance. John Fenton's team pulled the load 4-feet 11-inches to win the first place trophy.

William Mahard's tiny team tugged the sled 3-feet 2-inches for second. Paul Gobel, Amanda, the third place winner coaxed his team to a 4-foot 2-inch pull when the sled was loaded with 2,700 pounds.

Charles Moss easily won the 50 inch and under class with his big ponies. They pulled the sled loaded with 3,400 pounds of block the 14 foot distance with comparative ease. Robert Frey of McGuffey, could coax only a five inch pull from his team but it was good for second place. Eric Hughes' team managed to jerk the load four inches on their third try to take third.

Judges for the event were Charles (Poppy) Ford, Wayne Brown and Larry Goodman. Eddie Pritchard was the announcer.

The Pickaway County Pony Sales donated the trophies for the pony pull. First money was $30, second was $20 and third was $15. Saliva tests were taken of the ponies finishing first, second and third and premium money was held pending results of the tests.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Cooler air moved into the northwestern quarter of Ohio Monday night and early today. Skies were generally fair; however, fog formed during the night in most sections, with heavy fog developing in the southeastern counties along the Ohio River where visibility was reduced to zero.

Early morning temperatures today included Columbus 57, Zanesville 55, Cincinnati 58 and Cleveland 60.

Fair, dry and mild weather is indicated today through Wednesday. Slightly cooler temperatures are likely under clear to fair skies tonight.

Bowler Hats Said Both Smart, Safe

LONDON (AP) — Britons were advised today it's safer as well as smarter to wear a bowler hat. A Home Office pathologist, Dr. Francis Camps, said it also could save a man's life in a traffic accident.

Camps spoke to a road safety conference. He showed photographs illustrating that pedestrians frequently hit their heads on the ground when knocked down by a car.

The hard brim and crown of a bowler would help lessen their injuries, he suggested, "filling the same role as a crash helmet for motorcycleists."

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, July 31, the 212th day of 1962. There are 153 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1877, Thomas Edison took out a patent for shadowing the development of the phonograph. It reproduced sounds after a fashion but Edison was not satisfied and put aside the idea until considerably later.

On this date: In 1777, the Marquis de La Fayette offered his services to the American Congress and was promptly made a major general.

In 1790, the first patent was issued by the U.S. government—to Samuel Hopkins of Vermont for an improved method of making compounds used in manufacturing glass and soap.

In 1914, Austria ordered a general mobilization and moved troops to the Russian border.

In 1941, the Japanese occupied French Indo-China.

In 1943, American soldiers were locked in battle with the Japanese near Munda, New Georgia.

Today's birthdays: The Kansas City Athletics' manager, Hank Bauer, is 40.

Thought for today: Young credit is always good when you start to borrow trouble.

Plea Is Filed For Dr. Sam

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Attorney F. Lee Bailey, continuing efforts for a lie-detector test for convicted wife-slayer Samuel H. Sheppard, told the Ohio Supreme Court there is no reason to deny the test.

The Boston, Mass., counsel, in a brief filed Monday, said no logical explanation has ever been given to refuse the test for the former Bay Village osteopath. Sheppard is serving a life term for the second-degree murder of his wife, Marilyn, in their suburban Cleveland home July 4, 1954. He has contended that an intruder murdered his wife.

State's attorneys claim Sheppard is not entitled to the lie detector test because he refused to take one at the time of the trial. Bailey, in his brief, said the test was refused because it was to be conducted by a police officer rather than by an impartial expert.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Kennedy's first 18 months with Congress looked like an obstacle race, it was foreign affairs which truly kept him hopping.

Events abroad piled up but, because they were scattered over a year and a half and none yet has led to an explosion for the United States, many of them may have looked like minor episodes.

In one way or another, the United States had a stake in all of them and for that reason they were all problems for Kennedy.

His most visible mistake was in permitting the disastrous U.S.-backed Cuban invasion, at least in the way it was carried out. His biggest success was holding firm on Berlin until Premier Khrushchev cooled off.

If anything could be called his biggest frustration it was in the failure to get agreement on disarmament or a ban on nuclear testing. Presidents Truman and Eisenhower could understand this; they went through it, too. Latin America was one of the busy places.

Besides the various bedevils of Cuba's Castro, assassination ended the 31-year dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic, armies in Peru and Argentina threw out the elected governments, and civilian-military conflict in Brazil led to the departure of an elected President there.

In between times, Kennedy got hearty approval from the Latin Americans for his Alliance for Progress, although his hesitancy in recognizing military regimes showed he doubted progress comes through armies.

Algeria, after months of fury and assassinations by the secret army, won its independence from France only to be thrown into chaos by the rivalry of its own Moslem factions.

Those old enemies and next-door neighbors, Israel and Egypt, developed rockets. Syria broke loose from its union with Egypt. India and Pakistan were still in their quarrel over part of Kashmir.

Despite its moralizing about peace, India invaded and seized Portuguese Goa.

At home in Portugal, dictator Salazar began to have some trouble. So did dictator Franco in Spain next door. The United States has bases on Spanish and Portuguese territory.

The Congo got explosive, quieted down, and may really explode again in the unsettled dispute between the central government and the secessionist province of Katanga.

The United States got more deeply involved in South Vietnam to save it from a Communist takeover, sending in troops and weapons to sharpen the Vietnamese in guerrilla fighting. There has been no enthusiasm in this country for getting in-involved in a war in landlocked Laos. Kennedy's toughness in the spring of 1961 about stiff-arming pro-Communist pushes there melted away and he finally settled for a so-called neutralist government which may dissolve into communism anyway.

Meanwhile he sent American troops into neighboring Thailand to bolster its defenses against any invasion by the Communist guerrillas of Laos.

Even Thailand and its neighbor, Cambodia, got into an international dispute over a temple. This was settled without shooting. Red China massed troops on the mainland opposite the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu but so far nothing has come of that.

The Dutch and Indonesians took to shooting over the ownership of New Guinea. And in Burma the military under Gen. Ne Win took over.

Khrushchev demanded that the post of U.N. secretary general be replaced with a troika—a three-man secretariat. This was settled for the time being when U Thant of Burma was picked to fill the late Dag Hammarskjöld's place as acting secretary general.

In Europe, where the worst explosion could have happened because of Khrushchev's demands on Berlin, the future of Britain in the European Common Market still is undecided.

In addition to all this: Kennedy met a lot of people in 18 months, here and abroad. Far and away the most important meeting was with Khrushchev in Vienna.

Miss Chapman, Mr. List Exchange Wedding Vows

MRS. MARK R. LIST

Miss Jeanette Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Chapman, Route 1, Harrod, O., became the bride of Mr. Mark R. List, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther J. List, Route 1, Circleville, on June 24 at 4:30 p. m. in the United Church of Christ, Westminster, O.

The Rev. Willard Thomas officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with a large communion table center arrangement of white gladioli and carnations before tall candles and a cross. Seven-branch candelabra decorated with green leafy foliage and accented with large white satin bows completed the decorations.

A half-hour program of nuptial selections including vocal numbers preceded the ceremony. Miss Wesley Crow, was organist and Mrs. Don Raasch was vocalist. Selections included "The Wedding Prayer," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta which she designed and made herself. The bodice, featuring a scooped neckline and short scalloped sleeves, was trimmed in front with seed pearls and Alencon appliques and the snug set-in midriff dipped below the waistline in back and ended with a large cluster of white organza roses. Alencon lace appliques enhanced the floor length dome-shaped skirt which flowed into a graceful chapel train. Her bouffant shoulder length veil was held to a Queen's crown trimmed with tiny pearls and she wore small pearl earrings and short organza mitts trimmed with lace and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom, topped with a large purple orchid, lily of the valley and ivy.

Miss Joanne Chapman, Westminster, twin sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were, Miss Wava Gillespie, Cambridge, former college roommate of the bride, and Miss Lucille Chapman and Miss Helen Chapman, Westminster, and Mrs. James R. Thomas, Urbana, all sisters of the bride. They wore street length dresses of white silk organza over aqua taffeta designed with scooped necklines, short scalloped sleeves and narrow aqua bands accenting the waistlines. The very bouffant skirts featured bustles with wide streamers that extended to the hemline. They wore large picture hats of white braid and aqua tulle with large bows and streamers in the back, short organza and taffeta mitts, aqua earrings and carried baskets of pink daisies, carnations and fern leaves. The honor attendant carried a basket of pink and red roses.

Miss Judy List, niece of the bridegroom, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald List, Route 1, was the flower girl. She wore an aqua dress with picture hat and mitts and carried a basket of pink rose buds and petals.

Mr. Ronald List, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and ushers were Mr. David List, Celina, Mr. James R. Thomas, Urbana, Mr. Dwight Beougher, Laurelville, O. and Mr. John Peters, Clyde, O. David John List, nephew of the bridegroom and son of Mr. and Mrs. David List, Celina, O., was the ring bearer.

Mrs. Chapman chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of powder blue floral print over open blue taffeta with black and white accessories and her corsage was of baby pink carnations. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ben McGinnis, wore a dress of turquoise nylon jersey with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. List, the bridegroom's mother, wore a turquoise sheath dress of silk organza trimmed with matching lace with bone white accessories and a corsage of baby pink carnations with purple and white accents.

A reception for 150 guests was held following the wedding in the church social rooms. The bride's table was centered with a five tiered wedding cake and candelabra. Hostesses were, Miss Brenda List, Route 1, Mrs. Sam McClure, and Miss Suzanne McPherson, Lima, Mrs. Gary Grant, and Miss Sue Searfoss, Harrod, Miss Susan Logan, Mt. Gilead and Miss Mary Ethel Mason, Cambridge.

For their wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains, the new Mrs.

Is Your Home Ready for House Guest

By ELEANOR ROSS

One of the most neglected individuals in the world is the overnight guest, as anyone can doubtless testify who has ever spent a weekend — or even a single night — as a house guest! Of course, we're not concerned here with an emergency arrangement, but a stated invitation.

While most hostesses have happily mastered the art of entertaining graciously at dinner, or giving a delightful party, it seems to be a different story when it comes to making overnight guests feel comfortable.

Now that summer weekends are in full bloom, it's time to take stock.

Visitors are getting warier and warier of the overnight invitation in particular. Better to drive home late through the night than sleep on a badly made, makeshift bed.

The best way to determine the comfort of guest accommodations is for a hostess to test same herself.

If the house or summer cottage boasts an extra room, its furnishings and appointments should be kept up to date. Clean, clear bulbs for the lamps, a supply of current reading matter, ample supplies of toiletries in small sizes — these should be part of the equipment of every guest room.

Is the mattress in good shape? Would you yourself want to sleep on it?

Do you have a sufficient supply on hand of clean, subtly perfumed bed linen and immaculate summer blankets? Remember that it can, and does frequently, turn chilly even on a warmish night, so is there a spare blanket within easy reach?

Are the colors and patterns of the linens and blankets in harmony with the room — or do they just look like a batch of discards?

One of the nicest ways to pamper a guest is with a bath cart — which can be an old tea cart, utility cart or just about anything on wheels. Load it up with all the little things to make bath and grooming time pleasant — plenty of fresh towels, a supply of varied, small soap tablets, a supply of soap or detergent for basin laundry, a few clip-type drying hangers, cleansing cream, tissues, plus anything that you may have forgotten to take along on occasions when you were an overnight guest yourself.

When your guest gets ready for her bath, she can simply wheel her little "supply station" to the bathroom, rather than have to fumble through the family medicine cabinet looking for these small but so-important essentials.

And your reputation as a perfect hostess will be established!

List wore a yellow and white sheath dress of cotton knit with accessories of white straw and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside at Story's Trailer Court, E. 10th St., Marysville, O.

The bride is a graduate of Harrod High School and Ohio State University where she was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Omicron Nu, and Phi Upsilon Omicron honoraries. She is teaching vocational home economics at West Liberty — Salem High School, West Liberty, O.

Mr. List is a graduate of Pickaway Twp. High School and Ohio State University where he served as president of Alpha Gamma Sigma, Professional Agricultural Fraternity. He is now employed as a salesman for the Ohio Grain Company, Milford Center, O.

HOPE

FLOWERS express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren Try the Japanese Custom!

DEAR ABBY: During a party at my home, one woman spilled a little coffee and told me about it. While I was mopping it up, I noticed deep holes in my hardwood floor being made by the shoes of the woman sitting next to her. It sounds unbelievable, but a child with a hammer and nails could not have done more harm. They had cut into the wax and stain and dug down deep into the raw wood. I don't know what kind of heel she had on her shoes, but there were about 50 such holes around her. My beautiful floors were ruined! What should I have said to this woman without embarrassing her? I said nothing while she sat there and dug my floor for another hour. I am afraid she will come back with those shoes on again.

Add Beauty And Interest To Your Shades

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Shades of interest! That's what lamps should have and nothing is easier to shade.

Have a shade made in fabric that matches draperies, slip-covers or upholstery. Or buy a plain lampshade and treat it to some fancy trimmings that will give it a custom-made look.

Flat braid, available at trimming counters, can be used as a border around the shade top, bottom or both. Braid can also be applied to create a design, such as a Greek key motif.

Ball fringe is fetching trimming, especially suited to shades for casual Colonial settings or bedrooms.

Braid and fringe can be attached with double-faced masking tape (it's sticky on both sides) for trimming that can be changed to suit your whim. For a more permanent job, use glue or sew trim on.

For family and rumpus rooms, shades can be more spectacular. Use glue to cover a shade with a sea shell collection or a grouping of family snapshots. Stitch colorful fishing lures to a shade or glue on travel souvenirs, such as matchbook covers, ticket stubs or hotel stickers.

Flat Racers Attract Big Nighttime Crowd

LINCOLN, R.I. (AP) — If opening night was any indication, floodlit thoroughbred horse racing may be the biggest thing to hit bettors since the invention of money.

Lincoln Downs held the nation's first night flat racing by a major track Monday night and $627,988 poured under the pari-mutuel window bars.

Track officials said that was the most ever wagered anywhere, at night, in the United States on a single flats card.

GE Babe Ruth Team Holds Wiener Roast

Carl Purcell, manager of the General Electric Babe Ruth major league baseball team, will host his squad to a wiener roast at his residence, 156 W. Franklin St. tonight.

Purcell said festivities will start at 6:30 p.m. All members of the team are invited.

Big Question: Can Yankees, Dodgers Keep Up Fast Pace?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American League leading New York Yankees and the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers head into the countdown stage of the 1962 baseball season today riding parallel lines toward the same objective.

And the big question remains: Can the two pacesetters continue their side-by-side march to an October meeting in the World Series with a doubtful status hovering over two of the game's brightest lights — swollen-kneed Mickey Mantle and numbfingered Sandy Koufax.

Mantle, whose multi-paged medical history covers his anatomy from head (tonsilectomy) to foot (osteomyelitis) and surrounds lots of the area in between, came up with a new entry Monday when he was forced to sit out the second All-Star game.

The latest injury to the Yankee slugger, involving the same thigh that was hurt in May and kept him sidelined for a month, will keep Mantle idle for at least the three-game series that begins at Washington tonight and raises the curtain on the last third of the season.

Koufax, one of three pitchers to hurl a no-hitter this season, was heading for a strikeout record when the numb finger impaired his effectiveness. He'll be on the sidelines when the Dodgers resume action Wednesday night at Pittsburgh.

The Yankees, who like the Dodgers have held first place without a break since July 8 and took their biggest lead of the year over the weekend, will send Bill Stafford, 8-6, against Claude Osteen, 5-7, of the Senators while Mantle looks on.

While the Yankees tackle Washington, the Angels will send Eli Grba, 6-5, against Cleveland's Jim Perry, 8-8, in an effort to gain ground against a club that has lost 13 of its last 16 games. Minnesota's third-place Twins, 5½ behind, are at Baltimore in the only other game scheduled in either league.

In that one, Camilo Pascual, the American League's winningest pitcher with a 15-6 record, will test the tender elbow that forced him out of the All-Star classic. He'll face the Orioles' Jack Fishers, 2-5.

The Dodgers will be host to the fourth-place Pirates in the headliner of the Wednesday program that gets play under way again in the National League.

Winged Demon Grabs Scioto Trot Honors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Winged Demon won the featured seventh race for C2 trotters in 2:06 2-5 Monday night at Scioto Downs.

Grabbing the early lead, Winged Demon won by a half-length over Royal Rod and returned $6.80. Royal Rod paid $5, Yankee Volo paid $4.80 for show.

LL Stars To Practice

The Little League All-Star team will practice at 6 p. m. today at Ted Lewis Park it was announced by Blenn Stevenson, manager of the team.

Stevenson said the team looked sharp in a Saturday practice. The unit is slated to appear in the Little League tourney at Chillicothe.

Eddie Arcaro won six Belmonts in 22 attempts. Three of his mounts finished second, two were third and 11 out of the money. He rode seven favorites. Two choices were out of the money.

Ohio Legion Tournament Continuing

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Another seven-game program is on tap today in the second day of the annual state American Legion baseball tournament.

The opening games set up the pairings for today with the losers playing the losers and the winners going against the winners in the double-elimination event.

Monday afternoon's play saw Ashabula edge Bridgeport 4-3, Bellefontaine nip Archbold in 11 innings 6-5, Marion beat Fairborn 8-2 and Columbus Camp Chase defeat Hudson 7-2.

In the morning rounds Elyria beat Cincinnati Sycamore 6-1, Steubenville defeated Athens 4-2 and Euclid whipped Portsmouth 11-0 with the help of 13 Portsmouth errors.

The pairings for today's games are:

Athens vs. Portsmouth, Cincinnati Sycamore vs. Bridgeport, Archbold vs. Fairborn, all losers vs. losers; Steubenville (1-0) vs. Hudson (0-1) and Euclid vs. Elyria, Ashabula vs. Bellefontaine and Columbus Camp Chase vs. Marion, winners vs. winners.

Four Shoemen Qualify in Fair Tourney

Bill Jones topped qualifiers at the Pickaway County Fair Horse-shoe Tournament yesterday, scoring 106 points with 50 shoes.

The qualifiers throw 100 shoes, and then pick their best 50 for the qualifying score. They are scored three points for a ringer and one point for a shoe within six inches.

Next in line to Jones' 106 was John Wilkes with an 89. Ray Goodman qualified with an 81 and Art Wilkes threw a 78.

Only four men threw qualifying rounds yesterday.

THE TOURNAMENT courts are open from 6 to 10 p. m. every night of the fair for the local ringers to tossers. The finals will be pitched Saturday starting at 5 p. m.

The tourney is divided into three classes. Each contestant is grouped according to his qualifying score.

Indians To Seek Top Quality Again

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that the two major league All-Star games are out of the way, perhaps the Cleveland Indians can start playing well again.

During the period between the two All-Star games, the Indians dropped from second place (one game out of first) to fourth place (10 games behind), while losing 13 of 17 games.

Is it too late to get back in the race?

"I'm not giving up," General Manager Gabe Paul said Monday. "Weren't the 1951 Giants 13 back in the middle of August and didn't they beat out the Dodgers?"

"In 1942, weren't the Dodgers 10 games ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals and didn't the Cards win it?"

Washington C.H. Pacer Winning at Brandywine

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Jerry Way won his fourth victory in as many starts Monday night, winning the $4,000 Fairfax Pace at Brandywine Raceway. The 5-year-old is owned by Neal Helfrich of Washington Court House, Ohio. He paid $5.10.

George D. Widener, owner of Jaipur, is the honorary chairman of the New York Racing Association.

Semi-Pro Tackle Preps with Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The youngest and biggest player in the Cleveland Browns' training camp is trying to make the big jump from the semi-pro sandlots to the rugged National Football League.

He's Wayne Sadowski, a defensive tackle who slimmed down from 325 pounds to 281 pounds. He'll be 21 years old Saturday.

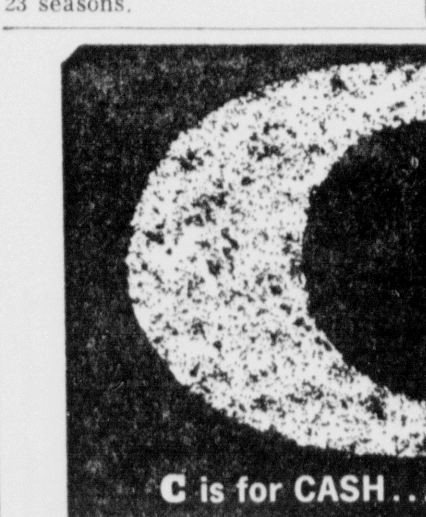

Last season, the Cleveland boy played in his hometown — but with the Cleveland Bulldogs of the United Football League, getting $50 a game.

"Difference between the Bulldogs and this is like day and night," he commented Monday. "For one thing the guards are much smaller in the United Football League. I'd hit them and they'd bounce back a yard or two. They don't bounce much here."

Penn State football teams have compiled winning records the past 23 seasons.

HELMET PAINTERS — Carl Benhase, Circleville High School varsity football coach, Jack Cook, manager of the grid team and Don Greenlee, a local booster, are shown with the new Tiger football helmets. The gear is the latest in safe headware. They are equipped with the triple face bar and foam rubber padding both inside and outside. Greenlee designed a stencil of a tiger that was used in painting the shiny black head protectors. John Barnhart, Dick Lamb and Cook were student aids helping stencil the design on the helmets.

Conley Back with Bosox after Fine

BOSTON (AP)—Towering Gene Conley returned to the Red Sox family and pitching rotation today after he was fined an estimated $2,000.

Although Boston Manager Mike Higgins would not divulge the amount he termed "very substantial," it was known to be the largest since owner Tom Yawkey personally levied $5,000 against Ted Williams for spiting six years ago.

The suspension placed on the 6-foot-8 right-hander for his abrupt disappearance from the team Thursday through Sunday was lifted by Higgins effective immediately. Conley, perhaps the most solid member of a wobbling pitching staff despite his 9-10 record, missed four games in the span and will lose pay accordingly.

Conley had a brief meeting with Higgins at Fenway Park Monday. They talked to vice president Dick O'Connell and Yawkey before leaving with his wife.

"I'm sorry for what I did," Conley told Higgins, "and I promise I'll never do it again. I want to stay in baseball and with the Red Sox."

Without consulting Higgins or his teammates, the veteran professional baseball and basketball year-around athlete stepped off a

Pro Grid League Expects Bonanza

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle predicts that four million fans will attend National Football League games this fall.

He also believes 50 per cent of the stadium capacity throughout the league will be sold in advance — or about 400,000 season tickets.

Although the ticket sale situation generally is favorable throughout the league, Rozelle still termed Dallas a problem.

Both the National Football League and the new American Football League put teams in Dallas two years ago and both have faced attendance problems.

The advance sale for the NFL Dallas club was expected to be only about 5,000 compared with 40,000 or more for other clubs.

Jerry Lucas Finds He Has No Team

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Pipers were a team without a league and Jerry Lucas, pro basketball's hottest new property, was a player without a team to play for.

Those twin developments came from a surprising action by the National Basketball Association's board of governors, which Monday refused membership to the Pipers.

Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, said after the meeting: "The Pipers have been declared in default on their agreement with the NBA made on July 10, and the NBA will continue to operate for the coming season with the same nine teams as last year."

That raised two questions: 1. What happens to Lucas, the fabulous three-time All America from Ohio State? 2. Will the Pipers return to the American Basketball League, in which they won the championship in the circuit's first season?

"Right now I'm as much in the dark as anybody," said Lucas in Columbus, Ohio. Lucas said George Steinbrenner, Pipers' president, planned to fly to Columbus to meet him immediately.

"The future of pro basketball in Cleveland lies with Jerry Lucas," said Steinbrenner, who attended the NBA meeting to present a proposal.

Steinbrenner added: "We had Jerry when we originally intended to play in the ABL. We feel Jerry is the boy the Cleveland fans want to see. I believe he is the most unique guy in sports. He wants to play in Cleveland and I believe he will remain firm to his devotion to Cleveland. If Jerry decides to stay with us all the way, we'll play in the ABL."

The Pipers failed to get in the NBA because Steinbrenner couldn't come up with the admission price—a reported $250,000, with $100,000 going to the Cincinnati Royals as an indemnity payment. The Royals had drafted Lucas, but he rejected their offer to join the Pipers under a two-year contract for a reported $60,000, including $40,000 in stocks.

A Cleveland syndicate, which had been formed in an attempt to keep the Pipers in the NBA, expressed disappointment at the action in New York, but it insisted it was not giving up its efforts.

Steinbrenner went into the meeting without any money, but told the NBA owners the syndicate was prepared to take over and meet all the financial obligations.

"I thought the way had been cleared for the Marks' group to step in and take over," Steinbrenner said. "I was stunned when the vote went against me."

Only Five Repeaters
WASHINGTON (AP)—Only five players who started in the 1961 All-Star baseball games in San Francisco and Boston were chosen to start in the 1962 games at Washington and Chicago. They were Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays of San Francisco and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh for the National League. American League repeaters are Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of the Yankees.

AL All-Stars Gain Revenge Over Nationals

Senior League Aces Humbled 9-4 as Big Bats Boom and Boom

CHICAGO (AP)—The American League, behind the booming bats of Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner and Pete Runnels, exploded the myth of National League superiority Monday, 9-4.

The usually self-controlled Ralph Houk, triumphant manager of the American League forces, did a poor job concealing his elation.

"Well, maybe this will shut those guys up once and for all," the Yankees' manager said. "All this talk about the National League being superior is bunk..."

The National League put on a wretched performance before the 38,359 Wrigley Field fans, committing four physical misplays and a number of mental errors, not to mention errant throws by seemingly tired performers.

The Nationals had 10 hits, as many as the Americans. But only one home run, by John Roseboro to three for the victors, by Runnels, Colavito and Wagner.

The Americans fielded flawlessly and engineered two double plays to none for the Nationals.

Runnels' homer came in a pinch-hit role, tying the score at 1-1 in the third inning after the Nationals had scored first, tagging starter Dave Stenhouse of Washington for a single run in the second. Art Mahaffey, the victim of Runnels' blow, also served a home run ball to Wagner, with a man on base in the fourth. There was no stopping the Americans after that.

Colavito's home run, with two on, came off Dick Farrell of Houston in the seventh, making it 7-1.

The only controversial play of the game occurred a few moments earlier. Following a walk to Brooks Robinson, Billy Moran hit a low drive to center field. Hank Aaron, who had replaced Willie Mays in center field for the Nationals, charged in fast and came up with the ball. Ken Burkhardt, umpiring at second base, ruled he had trapped the ball. One out later, Colavito crashed his three-run homer.

"I caught the ball and there was no two ways about it," said Aaron afterwards. "If I had trapped the ball I would have thrown to second and forced the other man. But I caught it and was the most surprised man in the world when he signaled safe."

Fred Hutchinson, the National League manager, said he thought Aaron had caught the ball and if it had been ruled as such "the outcome might have been different."

Hutchinson used 25 of his 28 available. Only pitchers Warren Spahn and Bob Purkey and infielder Jimmy Davenport saw no action. Houk used 20 players.

Asked why he started substituting as early as he did, Hutch said, "I wanted to get as many players in as I could. These guys are all good and it doesn't make too much difference who is in the game."

Houk kept three players in the game from start to end—outfielders Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito and first baseman Jim Gentile.

"No, I didn't do that intentionally," he said. "You forget that Mickey Mantle was hurt and I couldn't use him. Also, I didn't want to gamble with Al Kaline, who is just getting over a shoulder dislocation. This necessitated my moves."

The victory was the American League's second in the last eight All-Star games. The Nationals won in Washington July 10, 3-1.

Jerry Lucas Finds He Has No Team

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Pipers were a team without a league and Jerry Lucas, pro basketball's hottest new property, was a player without a team to join.

Those twin developments came from a surprising action by the National Basketball Association's board of governors, which Monday refused membership to the Pipers.

Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, said after the meeting: "The Pipers have been declared in default on their agreement with the NBA made on July 10, and the NBA will continue to operate for the coming season with the same nine teams as last year."

That raised two questions: 1. What happens to Lucas, the fabulous three-time All American from Ohio State?

2. Will the Pipers return to the American Basketball League, in which they won the championship in the circuit's first season?

"Right now I'm as much in the dark as anybody," said Lucas in Columbus, Ohio.

Lucas said George Steinbrenner, Pipers' president, planned to fly to Columbus to meet him immediately.

"The future of pro basketball in Cleveland lies with Jerry Lucas," said Steinbrenner, who attended the NBA meeting to present a proposal.

Steinbrenner added: "We had Jerry when we originally intended to play in the ABL. We feel Jerry is the boy the Cleveland fans want to see. I believe he is the most unique guy in sports. He wants to play in Cleveland and I believe he will remain firm to his devotion to Cleveland. If Jerry decides to stay with us all the way, we'll play in the ABL."

The Pipers failed to get in the NBA because Steinbrenner couldn't come up with the admission price—a reported $250,000, with $100,000 going to the Cincinnati Royals as an indemnity payment. The Royals had drafted Lucas, but he rejected their offer to join the Pipers under a two-year contract for a reported $60,000, including $40,000 in stocks.

A Cleveland syndicate, which had been formed in an attempt to keep the Pipers in the NBA, expressed disappointment at the action in New York, but it insisted it was not giving up its efforts.

Steinbrenner went into the meeting without any money, but told the NBA owners the syndicate was prepared to take over and meet all the financial obligations.

"I thought the way had been cleared for the Marks' group to step in and take over," Steinbrenner said. "I was stunned when the vote went against me."

AL All-Stars Gain Revenge Over Nationals

Senior League Aces Humbled 9-4 as Big Bats Boom and Boom

CHICAGO (AP)—The American League, behind the booming bats of Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner and Pete Runnels, exploded the myth of National League superiority Monday, 9-4.

The usually self-controlled Ralph Houk, triumphant manager of the American League forces, did a poor job concealing his elation.

"Well, maybe this will shut those guys up once and for all," the Yankees' manager said. "All this talk about the National League being superior is bunk..."

The National League put on a wretched performance before the 38,359 Wrigley Field fans, committing four physical misplays and a number of mental lapses, not to mention errant throws by seemingly tired performers.

The Nationals had 10 hits, as many as the Americans. But only one home run, by John Roseboro to three for the victors, by Runnels, Colavito and Wagner.

The Americans fielded flawlessly and engineered two double plays to none for the Nationals.

Runnels' homer came in a pinch-hit role, tying the score at 1-1 in the third inning after the Nationals had scored first, tagging starter Dave Stenhouse of Washington for a single run in the second. Art Mahaffey, the victim of Runnels' blow, also served a home run ball to Wagner, with a man on base in the fourth. There was no stopping the Americans after that.

Colavito's home run, with two on, came off Dick Farrell of Houston in the seventh, making it 7-1.

The only controversial play of the game occurred a few moments earlier. Following a walk to Brooks Robinson, Billy Moran hit a low drive to center field, Hank Aaron, who had replaced Willie Mays in center field for the Nationals, charged in fast and came up with the ball. Ken Burkhardt, umpiring at second base, ruled he had trapped the ball. One out later, Colavito crashed his three-run homer.

"I caught the ball and there was no two ways about it," said Aaron afterwards. "If I had trapped the ball I would have thrown to second and forced the other man. But I caught it and was the most surprised man in the world when he signaled safe."

Fred Hutchinson, the National League manager, said he thought Aaron had caught the ball and if it had been ruled as such "the outcome might have been different."

Hutchinson used 25 of his 28 availables. Only pitchers Warren Spahn and Bob Purkey and infielder Jimmy Davenport saw no action. Houk used 20 players.

Asked why he started substituting as early as he did, Hutch said, "I wanted to get as many players in as I could. These guys are all good and it doesn't make too much difference who is in the game."

Houk kept three players in the game from start to end—outfielders Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito and first baseman Jim Gentile.

"No, I didn't do that intentionally," he said. "You forget that Mickey Mantle was hurt and I couldn't use him. Also, I didn't want to gamble with Al Kaline, who is just getting over a shoulder dislocation. This necessitated my moves."

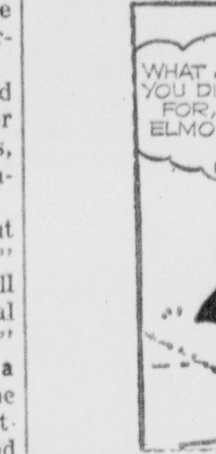

The victory was the American League's second in the last eight All-Star games.

The Nationals won in Washington July 10, 3-1.

Cincy Eyes Purchase of Well Land

CINCINNATI (AP)—City Council is considering the request of Waterworks Superintendent Charles M. Bolton for permission to start buying land for a supplementary well field on the Hamilton-Butler County border.

Council's Financial and Public Utilities Committee approved Bolton's request Monday. The superintendent told councilmen the city should hurry because land prices in the Ross area have already gone up as the result of Cincinnati's water controversy with Hamilton and Fairfield.

Officials of the two Butler County cities contend the proposed $7 million Cincinnati facility would endanger their water supply. Both cities draw water from the Great Miami River area.

Bolton declared test drillings around Ross showed there was plenty of water for all three cities. This finding was challenged last week by City Manager Aaron Marsh of Hamilton, who accused Cincinnati officials of callous disregard of their neighbor's plight.

The driver stops, looks over the flavors of ice cream he's selling, and selects a cup for the dog. He then jots down the transaction in a little book.

At the end of each week, Boom-erang's owner, Joe Fugate, shows up to settle the account.

IS THE LABORER WORTHY OF HIS HIRE?

A good day's work for a good wage is in the American tradition. It's the basis of our system of free enterprise and a foundation which has made our nation the envy of the world.

For years, banks have relied upon modest service charges to offset the expense of handling checking accounts. Although costs continue to rise, we will resist any change in our rates unless necessary to continue the high quality of service you have come to expect from our bank.

Is the laborer worthy of his hire? We believe this applies to the banking business, also.

Governor Gets Crump's Plea

Young Illinois Killer Seeks To Escape Chair

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board submits today to Gov. Otto Kerner its recommendations on a plea for clemency for Paul Crump, convicted killer who is seeking to escape his scheduled death in the electric chair early Friday.

Gov. Kerner alone will make the decision to either change Crump's death sentence to life imprisonment or approve the scheduled electrocution. Kerner, by law, can concur with the five man board's recommendations or reject them.

The board held a 6½-hour hearing Monday on Crump's clemency petition.

The 32-year-old Negro has been in the Cook County jail for nine years and has had 14 stays of execution. He had been sentenced to death twice by juries for the 1953 fatal shooting of a plant guard in a $20,000 payroll robbery in Chicago's stockyards.

Crump, whose first conviction was reversed by the Illinois Supreme Court, did not appear at Monday's hearing.

Louis Nizer, New York lawyer and author of a current best seller, told the board that Crump has been changed from a "beastly, animalistic criminal." He said the prisoner is now "a rehabilitated man—a newborn man."

Richard B. Austin testified how, as an assistant state's attorney, he had prosecuted Crump for the murder of Theodore Zukowski, 44, during the 1953 robbery.

Austin, now a federal judge, said: "The evidence does not justify a finding of rehabilitation. You can feign rehabilitation just as you can feign insanity."

The defense plea for Crump's life was unprecedented in Illinois in that it did not deny the Negro's

Harpo Marx in Baggy Pants Scampers about White House

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The White House never had a musicale like this.

There was Harpo Marx, in his usual baggy pants, plaid shirt and fright wig, scampering around the executive mansion with wild abandon. But after assaulting the piano, he settled down to a serious rendition of "Red River Valley" on the harp and was congratulated by the President for the "vigh" of his presentation.

This was all make-believe, of course. It happened on the set of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," a television series in which Fess Parker plays a senator adrift in the New Frontier. The President's voice is duplicated by an imitator, his face remaining unseen.

Harpo was no imitator. He was the real thing, and he was making a rare return to the movie stages he once roamed with brothers Groucho, Chico and, in the early days, Zeppo.

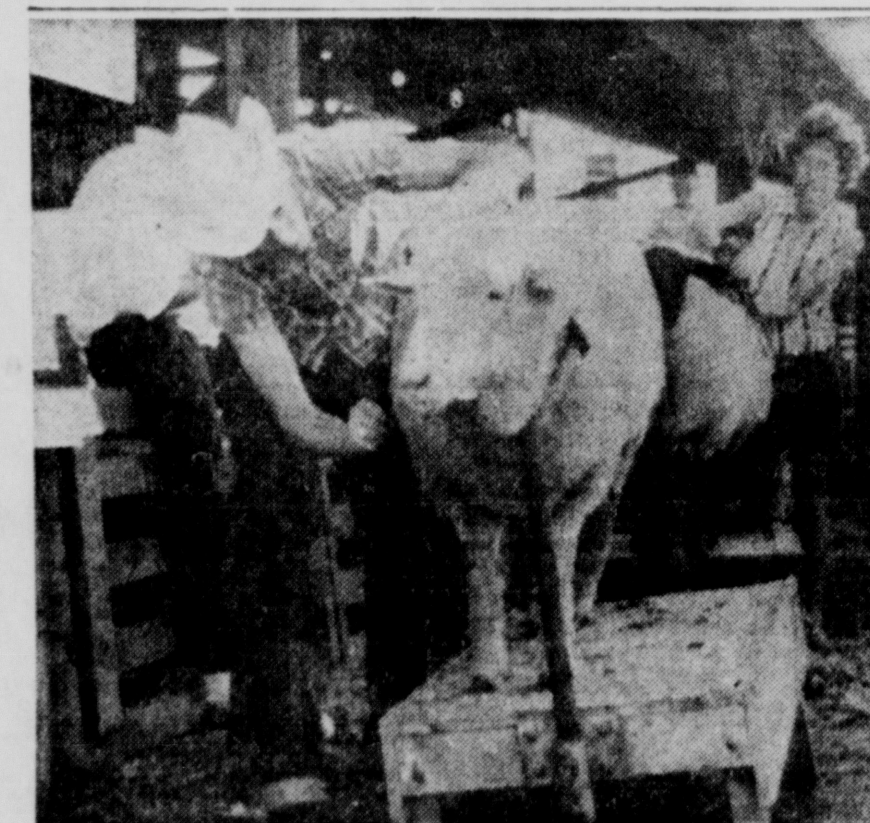

"This isn't like MGM," he grinned as the assistant director stood at his elbow to hustle him into a scene. Television schedules have the pace of a Marx Brothers movie.

So what is Harpo doing these days?

"I'll be working in this show and one with Red Skelton," the comedian reported. "Then I'll be doing a bunch of appearances with symphony orchestras. Those are strictly for fun, raising money for the orchestras; one of the concerts is getting $500 per seat."

"The rest of the time I spend in Palm Springs, where I live most of the year. I don't work too hard any more. Six or eight guilt. It asked only that the board recommend Crump's sentence be changed from death to life imprisonment because a "vicious criminal has become a decent man."

So what is Harpo doing these days?

"I'll be working in this show and one with Red Skelton," the comedian reported. "Then I'll be doing a bunch of appearances with symphony orchestras. Those are strictly for fun, raising money for the orchestras; one of the concerts is getting $500 per seat."

"The rest of the time I spend in Palm Springs, where I live most of the year. I don't work too hard any more. Six or eight

Cincy Eyes Purchase of Well Land

CINCINNATI (AP)—City Council is considering the request of Waterworks Superintendent Charles M. Bolton for permission to start buying land for a supplementary well field on the Hamilton-Butler County border.

Council's Financial and Public Utilities Committee approved Bolton's request Monday. The superintendent told councilmen the city should hurry because land prices in the Ross area have already gone up as the result of Cincinnati's water controversy with Hamilton and Fairfield.

Officials of the two Butler County cities contend the proposed $7 million Cincinnati facility would endanger their water supply. Both cities draw water from the Great Miami River area.

Bolton declared test drillings around Ross showed there was plenty of water for all three cities. This finding was challenged last week by City Manager Aaron Marsh of Hamilton, who accused Cincinnati officials of callous disregard of their neighbor's plight.

This Canine Is Shrewd One

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Around the neighborhood, Boom-erang is known as the dog with the unusual charge account.

Every afternoon, when he hears a bell tinkle, the 6-year-old cocker spaniel deliberately stretches himself on the street in front of an oncoming vehicle.

The driver stops, looks over the flavors of ice cream he's selling, and selects a cup for the dog. He then jots down the transaction in a little book.

At the end of each week, Boom-erang's owner, Joe Fugate, shows up to settle the account.

IS THE LABORER WORTHY OF HIS HIRE?

A good day's work for a good wage is in the American tradition. It's the basis of our system of free enterprise and a foundation which has made our nation the envy of the world.

For years, banks have relied upon modest service charges to offset the expense of handling checking accounts. Although costs continue to rise, we will resist any change in our rates unless necessary to continue the high quality of service you have come to expect from our bank.

Is the laborer worthy of his hire? We believe this applies to the banking business, also.

Eisenhower Apologizes For Slap at Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower apologized to the Swedes for saying two years ago that socialism in Sweden had resulted in a soaring suicide rate, an increase in drunkenness and a lack of ambition.

Eisenhower told a welcoming crowd of 2,000 at the Stockholm railway station he was wrong—"I admit it, and I apologize for my error."

The crowd cheered.

ter Country Club Saturday. In a meet last night they romped to an easy 207-138 win over Wee Bonnie Swim Club.

The 200 yd. Freestyle for Boys 17 and under was the deciding event in Saturday's 40 event meet.

The local Club copped 36 firsts, 21 seconds, and 12 thirds in last night's meet.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Doug Price with a time of 26.5 seconds in the 40 yd. Backstroke, by Ann Cook with a time of 13.2 in the 20 yd.
